Under Little Used City Code

Vacant Lots Must Be Kept Clean

This newspaper received a telephone call Wednesday shortly after Noon from an unidentified caller reporting city crews working on private property on Dr. Roberts Street. A quick investigation verified the work was in progress.

A check with City Hall and Mayor Bob English revealed the work was being done under a section of the city code requiring vacant lots be kept clean. The landowner is notified by registered mail and given ten days to clean it up. Then, if not done, city crews do the work and the landowner is billed for the work. If they don't pay, a lien is obtained against the property.

Section 10-12 of the Elba Code of Ordinances reads: "Every person owning, residing on, or having charge or control of, any premises or vacant lot shall, at all times, keep the weeds, grass and vegetation cut to within twelve (12) inches of the ground and shall remove any accumulation of trash or debris therefrom."

Section 10-13 points out the method of notifying the property owner of the violation, and 10-14 points out that if the property owner fails to clean up the property, they are guilty of a misdemeanor and sets out exactly how the city will clean up the lot, bill the property owner and obtain a lien if it is not paid. The ordinance is an old law, but it has not been regularly enforced. The exact date for its enactment is not known, but it was prior to the revising of the city code in 1968 under the late Mayor L.P. Mullins.

The present law gives a ten-day notice, and a similar law in the code book in 1922, only 24 hours' notice before owners were guilty of a misdemeanor.

Career Education Committee Meets

At Elba

The Career Education Advisory Committee of the Elba School System met Tuesday, February 10, at the school. Members present were Chairman John C. Windham, Gaines Waters, Oscar Vaughan, Dr. James Clay, Phillip Scarborough, Ferris Cox and Superintendent Elmer Taylor. Several members were absent due to the weather conditions.

The group reviewed plans to make all students in the school system aware of the many careers available and to expose the students to as many of these as possible.

Mayor Proclaims

Patriotism Week

In Elba

Elba Mayor Bob English has proclaimed this week as National Patriotism Week in Elba. The week of February 15 through 21 is observed nationally as patriotism week as prescribed by a law passed last year.

On hand to observe the signing of the proclamation was Sgt. Major Fred Moore of the U.S. Army Reserve.

Youngsters Find Missing Weapon

Three Suspects Arrested For Murder Of Ft. Rucker Soldier

Three arrests have been made and Grand Jury indictments received in the murder of a Ft. Rucker soldier, Sgt. Jimmy E. Tucker. Arrested Sunday night about 11:30 were his estranged wife, LaDonna Tucker, Lot 120, Pinebrook Trailer Park, Enterprise; and Douglas Ard, age 23, who gave a Pensacola, Florida, address. Arrested in San Antonio, Texas, in the same case

City Council

Tangles With

Trash Problems

Monday night the Elba City Council handled a trash problem, approved a sewer extension, heard an updated report on the sewage system study, and reviewed the financial condition of the city. Police Chief Ray Norris also gave a report and told the council his department had collected about $1600 in fines.

The problem of cardboard boxes and what to do with them faced the members of the city council Monday night. Mayor Bob English told the council he had been informed by county officials that the city could no longer take cardboard boxes to the county landfill. English told the council the boxes were being buried on city property at present, but that space would run out by the end of the week.

After much discussion, the council adopted the recommendation of English and City Engineer Jim Williams. All boxes must be broken down by the merchants and will be picked up by a city truck and stored. Williams said he was working with a private individual in hopes someone would begin a recycling operation and use the boxes. He noted that if no private party was found to do this, it would become necessary for the city itself to get into the business of baling the cardboard for recycling. Williams pointed out that the State Health Department had refused permission to burn the boxes.

A sewer line for Cliff Allen, who lives in Brookdale caused less discussion than at the last meeting, but got different results. After modifying the plans to cut the cost from $3000 to about $2000, the council approved the work.

Allen was present at the meeting and was asked if he would share in the cost of the construction. He told council members that first - he didn't have the extra money, and secondly - he didn't feel it was his place to pay for the installation. He noted he was living in the house when the sewer system was installed, but his street was excluded. He continued to point out that others on his street had been extended city sewage without paying more than the sewer tap, and he was due the same consideration.

The council voted unanimously to install the 400 feet of line and two manholes after it was pointed out to the councilmen that this was different from a new subdivision where the subdivider was required to install all utilities before the subdivision would be accepted by the city.

Harold Baker, representing G. Reynolds Watkins of Montgomery, gave a status report on the 210 sewer review presently being done by his firm. He said the work had been underway for about a year and would be completed in the near future. The study of the Elba sewer system and needs is funded with a 75% federal grant, and must be done before any sewer improvement grant applications may be filed.

Baker pointed out some needs his survey had uncovered, and included a major expansion of the lagoon system south of town to bring the quality of discharge water up to the standards of the Alabama Water Improvement Commission. He said it would presently cost about $550,000 to do the actual construction needed. This, too, would be funded 75% by a federal grant when and if Elba's priority reaches the top from the present 347 ranking.

English reported the city was presently in good condition overall with finances, and was operating within the budget. He noted a surplus of money at this time, but projected it would be used up before year's end at the present rate of spending.

was Donald Ray Ard, age 29, and brother to Douglas Ard.

Grand Jury indictments against all three were returned Tuesday charging them in a two-count indictment of Murder for Hire and Murder. The Murder for Hire charge is a capital felony and carries a sentence of 10 years minimum up to the electric chair if convicted. The murder charge is a Class A felony and the maximum sentence is life.

Tucker was found dead in a burned pickup truck on Highway 6, near Kinston on the night of January 24. An examination revealed he had been shot twice. County officials had continued their investigation because a short hose hanging from the gas tank indicated the fire had been deliberately set.

Sheriff Brice Paul said he had questioned the three arrested and others immediately after the body was found, but didn't file any charges until he had collected all the evidence.

The evidence that triggered the arrests can be attributed to the heavy rains of last week. Two youngsters were building a "fort" shortly after the rain and needed some branches for a roof. They noticed a plastic bag partially uncovered, and one of the youths pulled it out. They found a 357 pistol and several other items in the bag. Their parents turned this weapon over to the Enterprise police who immediately notified the sheriff's department.

Law officers reported earlier in the investigation that they had been told by several people that LaDonna Tucker had been trying to hire someone to kill her husband for some time. During their investigation they looked into the possibility that life insurance death benefits might have been the motive for the killing. Paul told this newspaper that if evidence showed any beneficiary of the insurance was part of a conspiracy to kill the man, he felt sure the insurance would remain unpaid or go to the two surviving children.

All three remain in the Coffee County jail at press time, and no bail has been set.

Students Escape Injury In Collision Of School Van

A head-on collision between a school bus and a small economy car last Thursday afternoon injured both drivers, but three students escaped without a scratch.

The Project Independence bus for Coffee County was driven by Anita Grimes who was taking children home from school. The bus collided with a car driven by Bennie Abbott, of Andalusia, at the crest of a hill on Highway 14, just west of the Elba-Samson Highway.

Slate Trooper R.W. Whitworth investigated the accident, declined to state a cause for the accident, but did say charges may be filed later when laboratory results are received from item or items removed from one of the vehicles.

County Superintendent Johnny Vaughan was on the scene and stated that Mrs. Grimes had assured him she was not at fault in the accident. Abbott's father was also at the scene, but could make no comment as he had not seen his son prior to his being transferred to the hospital for treatment.

Roger Bowdoin, Director of the Coffee County Vocational Center in New Brockton, is shown examining the wrecked bus before it was moved from the scene.

POOR ORIGINAL

Brainstorms

With Fern Cox

Alabama politicians are up in the air as Governor Fob James proposes cuts in favored projects. When making speeches around the state, most grass-roots politicians are quick to support cutting out wasteful spending, etc.; but when they get to Montgomery it is time to lobby for that one special group that carries a substantial voting clout back in the home district. It is the reality of government. . . . waste is what you spend on other folks.

President Reagan is getting his share of the flak over proposed budget cuts. Before he started pointing to specific project cuts, hardly a person disagreed with the promise of cutting out the fat in the national budget. Now we hear alarmed "victims" crying out for compassion or understanding. Recently statements surfaced that funding of the Arts at a national level just couldn't be cut because it was necessary for our survival! Those of us who have sat through our children's piano and/or dance recitals know there are many things we agree to varying degrees that we can live without if forced to do so in trying economic and political times.

Last week we commented on the fine steak we ate with the firemen a few days earlier. We noted that the city council was also invited; however, we failed to mention our friend, City Clerk Jack Prescott, who was sitting at the same table with ye olde editor and eating just as much. Well, friend Jack told us that he was there as an invited guest and was not a gate crasher. We agree he was undoubtedly invited 'cause as much as Jack eats, there wouldn't have been enough to go around with him and myself in the same room, if proper plans had not been made in advance! Hi Jack!

Talk of consolidating primary helicopter training for the Navy at Ft. Rucker with the Army has again hit the news in Washington. This time it is Senator Helms who is pushing the project. Congressman Dickinson pushed it for years only to get shot down by the special interest votes in the Senate. This time Dickinson is sitting back and telling folks not to get real excited because the same forces that defeated the idea in years past are still present today. In spite of the national mandate to cut government spending, we still expect our elected officials to protect our little corner of the world.

Proration of education funds has put a strain on most school systems. These cuts must come in areas other than teacher salaries because the teachers are under contract, and because state law prohibits cutting teacher salaries. Now the Mobile Superintendent of Education is making threats of cutting teacher salaries because of the cutbacks. We have long been opposed to public employees going on strike, and especially professionals such as school teachers. The theory is they are there to teach youngsters, and the money is secondary, plus the fact they signed a contract to work for the year at a given salary. However, that contract is just as binding on the school system as it is on the teacher; and if school administrators want trouble from unions, lawsuits, etc., then all they need to do is try what is being talked about in Mobile, and they have trouble. . . . and frankly this writer would agree the trouble is well deserved.

Income tax is on the minds of many people these days. We commented one day this week that there is an unusual number of people working to complete their income tax returns now, rather than waiting until April 15. We are not sure just what causes this, but wonder if the hope of some refund prompted them on a tight budget to seek some relief, and if the others are afraid they will not have the money to pay up and are getting the figures together to ease the pain of not knowing. We might add that we had plans to finish ours up in January, but as of today are planning to start "in a few days."

We might as well accept the idea because it won't go away - but first class postage is going up. Postal officials want an increase to 20 cents, but are getting resistance from political types. Some postal officials in Washington are privately saying they will probably carry over and get less than 20 cents now, but with another increase before the year is out. Also, they are expected to push hard for cutting out Saturday mail delivery. The more they cut services and increase prices, the more private carriers will move in and take over the profitable part of the business, leaving the post office with the unprofitable newspapers and bulk mail.

During the wait for the lawyers to settle the Covington County drug case last week we heard the rumors of jury tampering, but paid little attention, hoping it would go away as it usually does. However, it didn't go away, and now we have a grand jury waiting a report from the District Attorney. We know a number of people on the list have been telephoned by either the sheriff's department or the District Attorney's office, but some of the potential jurors had not been contacted at press time. The best we can ascertain is that the Grand Jury will be told that a prominent Opp man contacted more than one person scheduled to appear as potential jurors in the case, and discussed the case with them on behalf of one or more of the defendants. The Opp man did spend several days in court as an observer during the first trial that ended in a mistrial, but reportedly has denied any intent to sway a juror prior to the second trial that was settled out of court before the jury was ever seated. The Grand Jury is scheduled to hear the official evidence Saturday morning, but whatever the outcome, this should remind us all that it just ain't right to discuss a case with members of a jury.

Our friend and former neighbor, Mike Taylor, underwent surgery Monday in Montgomery. He is in St. Margaret's Hospital and will be there for a while, we expect, but can read this mail if you are inclined to send cards to sick folks you know.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: I wish to praise the citizens and media of Elba for your generous support of the recent March Against Leukemia. Elba volunteers collected over $1250 for leukemia research, patient aid and education. With your support, science will continue the progress against leukemia and its allied diseases. For example, 60 percent of children with leukemia are now living five-year remissions, adults are responding to drug therapy, and Hodgkin's disease is curable in the earliest stages.

Even more exciting is the fact that what scientists learn about leukemia helps all cancer patients. Most of the lifesaving modern approaches in treating cancer, such as chemotherapy, drug rescue, specialized blood transfusions, and supportive care of the cancer patient, were pioneered with leukemia patients.

When we learn what causes leukemia, we will be close to having the key that unlocks the great riddle of cancer itself.

Sincerely,

RICHARD A. GAMS, M.D.,
Chairman
Medical Advisory Committee
Alabama Society of Leukemia Society of America, Inc.

HOW DEEP WAS IT ?

IT WAS SO DEEP . . . that City Street Department employee James Hall had to wade in water knee-deep to open a blocked storm drain on Buford Street. The heavy rain last Tuesday turned Elba's streets into virtual canals before the drains could be opened.

IT WAS SO DEEP . . . that some local trappers found no way to get back to civilization! The young men pictured above reported they had crossed many small creeks on their jeep, but found the water a little too deep at this point and bogged down!

Well, Coach Jerry Kirkland's Elba High Tigers pulled it off. They posted the first winning season in basketball at Elba High since 1976. True, an 11-9 record is not the best in the world, but when you consider the past four years have posted a combined record of 32-64, it sure ain't bad! When Coach Kirkland came here three years ago I told him he could develop a winning program if he would work hard and not become discouraged if it took a couple of years to get "his" program going. The first two seasons were rough, and the Tigers struggled through 5-18 and 6-15 records. However, Coach Kirkland had begun to build a foundation of developing the younger players, and he wasn't about to quit. This season he put together a team that had only 3 seniors, and for the first time in many years he started a sophomore on the varsity. The team was young, but they stuck together and worked hard and soon started winning games. Under Coach Kirkland's leadership and the leadership of the three seniors Elba won a tournament (the first in six years) and held a winning record throughout the season.

This year's team had some bad games, but it had more than enough good games to make the season a sweet one. The basketball program at Elba is on the way up, and some good years are coming. This season was a total winning program at Elba, as the Varsity, B team and Junior team all posted winning records. Coach Kirkland isn't ready to make any predictions about the years to come, but if the basketball program improves the next three years like it did the past three - watch out!

Congratulations, Coach, you've done an outstanding job! Before leaving the subject of Elba High basketball, I've got to again praise Mr. Steve Thompson and his pep band for the outstanding job they did at all the home games. The band added a lot of enthusiasm and spirit to the games, and really sounded great. I've been to a lot of college basketball games and heard a lot of college pep bands, but I can say without hesitation that our high school pep band is the best I've ever heard!!!

The high school basketball season has reached tournament time, and that means a lot of traveling during the week. I drew up a schedule last weekend, and included on it were trips to Ashford, Wicksburg, New Brockton and Red Level. All the teams in the area have worked hard to get ready for the tournaments, and I'm willing to work just as hard to give them the coverage they deserve. So, if you see me and I act like I am in a hurry, don't think I don't want to stop and chat - I'm just in a hurry!

The Boys' Basketball League finished its season last week and even though it was short, I think it was very successful. There were a total of 25 players, and in only three games 14 boys managed to score. That's quite an accomplishment! I coached one of the teams, so don't get me wrong, but I think the parents owe at least a "thanks" to all the men who coached the teams. We gave up a lot of hours of free time to coach a team, and I assure you it wasn't an easy job. Coaches are expected to win every game, let every boy play an equal amount of time, and teach every boy to play, and most important - always control their emotions, even when a player shoots at the wrong goal!

I know some parents complained that their boys didn't get to play enough, and one coach actually had a parent tell him he was tired of his son's team losing all the time. Well, we may not be the best, but we try hard to make it enjoyable to everyone involved, and you shouldn't complain until you give it a try yourself. I think all the boys had a good time, and I hope next year we have twice as many teams!

The Men's Basketball League has completed its season, and I'm sure a lot of you noticed the name of Albert Tyson missing from the team's scores. Albert became quite famous for averaging nearly 50 points a game in the local league the last two years, but this year he didn't play. Well, let's just say he didn't play in Elba! Albert is now living in Schenectady, New York, and this season led his team, called "The Mothership Connection," to a perfect 10-0 record in a 28-team league. He is the top scorer on his team with a 25-point average, and at last report the playoffs were just starting. Just thought I'd spread the word.

It looks like Andalusia is having the same problem we had a few years ago - they can't keep a coach. Coach Rick Rhoades, who only last year replaced Don Sharpe, has resigned to accept an assistant coaching position at the University of North Alabama. Replacing Rhoades will be Gwin Burkett, an assistant at Andalusia for 9 years. Burkett coached at Long, Georgia and Newnan, Georgia, before going to Andalusia, and he is very deserving of the job.

Oops - it's late and I've got to go.

The win added a sparkle to what has been a lackluster season for the Rebels, and topped their record to 3-18. Arton, ranked 10th in the state in A ranks, fell to 16-7. The Rebels came out ready to play and combined a sticky defense and a patient offense to move into an early 10-4 lead. Zion Chapel clung

Elba Tigers Clinch Winning Season, Rally To Edge Samson 61-59

The Elba High Tigers put the finishing touch on a winning basketball season last Friday night when they posted an exciting 61-59 come-from-behind win over Samson Tigers. The win topped Elba's record to 11-9 and assured the Tigers of a winning record, while the loss left Samson with a 10-12 slate.

Elba opened the week's hardcourt action on Thursday and lost to the Daleville Warhawks 71-61, in Daleville. The game scheduled for Tuesday night in Laverne was cancelled because of the heavy rains and will not be made up.

Spring Football Drills Are Underway At Elba

The Elba High Tigers opened spring football practice yesterday (Wednesday), February 18, and Coach Mack Wood reports the key word this spring will be "Fundamentals." "We've got to start with the fundamentals and go from there," stated Coach Wood in a recent conversation. "Our goal is to do a lot of teaching. We've got a lot of young boys, and we've got to get them a solid foundation on which to build. The first three days will be devoted to working on fundamentals and organization. We'll split our time between offense and defense, because we've got a lot of holes to fill on both sides. There are a lot of holes, but we've got some prospects and we are optimistic."

"We passed out 54 sets of pads last week," added Wood, "which we feel is a good-sized squad. We don't plan on doing a lot of work on team play, but we'll get it done pretty quick after we get organized. Our main plan going into spring training is to work on fundamentals, and team-wise, I evaluate our personnel. It will take the whole spring to find out just what all the boys can do. We'll have to move people around and make sure everyone is in the right position. We will give them the basics of offense and defense position and work 'em equally on both sides."

In closing, Coach Wood stated the team's off-season weight program had been active for all the players, and that everyone who got pads took part in the program. When asked if the weight loss had resulted in added strength to the players, Coach Wood answered, "We will give them the basics of offense and defense position and work 'em equally on both sides."

The Elba Tigers came out running at full-speed and grabbed an early lead, but an out of gas in the second half, and dropped a 71-61 decision to Daleville. Elba was red hot in the first half, and moved on top 16-9, but the Tigers began to slow down in the second quarter and allowed the Warhawks to close within 32-26 at the half. The Elba defense machine slowed to a crawl in the third stanza as Daleville surged ahead 44-23, and the final stanza was a blow-out as the Tigers were out of the game and scored to tie the 71-61. Don Horstead scored 19 points to lead all scorers, while Frederick Reed and Ted Horstead added 14 and 12, respectively. Harris hit 16 for Daleville.

Samson 59

The Elba Tigers rallied from an early 16-point deficit to post an exciting 61-59 win over the Samson Tigers. Elba jumped into a 4-2 lead at the outset of the game and seemed to be ready to play, but Samson caught fire, and behind the scoring of 6'6" Greg Bess, the visitors needed off 18 points in a 3-minute span to take a shocking 20-6 lead. Bess only a junior, got inside the Elba zone and scored 10 points to spark the Samson rally. Elba refused to fold, however, and led by Don Horstead's 7-point outburst late in the stanza, the Tigers crept to within 21-13 by the end of the quarter.

The Elba defense began to stir, and at halftime had pulled even at 28-28.

Elba went ahead at 32-31 early in the second half on a bucket by Ted Horstead, but Samson rallied late in the period and moved back on to 43-40 going into the final stanza. The Tigers scored six unanswered points to open the fourth quarter and give Elba a 46-43 lead, but it was far from over as the score saw-sawed and was then tied at 49-49. Elba's Don Horstead blocked an attempted dunk by Samson's Bess midway through the stanza, and the play woke up both the Elba players and fans. The Tigers again ran off 6 straight points to grab a 55-49 lead, and Elba went into their famous "Tiger Roll," forcing Samson to come out and play a tight man defense. The roll was too much for the visitors to handle, and despite missing several big free-throws, Elba had little trouble holding on for the win.

A large crowd was on hand for the contest, and the home-town fans had plenty to cheer about early in the game as Brockton managed to take an 18-17 lead after one quarter of play. The Gamecocks began to get in foul trouble in the second quarter, and Enterprise used its depth to wear down the Gamecocks and moved on top 35-32 at the half.

The Wildcats continued to control the game in the second half and slowly pulled into a 12-point lead midway through the final stanza. The Gamecocks refused to quit, however, and rallied to pull within 4 points at 66-62 with 12 left. Brockton had a chance to cut the lead to two points, but a charging foul turned the ball over and wrapped up the win for the Wildcats.

Ricky Nelson poured in a game-high 32 points to lead New Brockton, while Robert Wilson added 11 and Fred Burrows hit 10. Joseph Burrows and Otis Andrews rounded out the scoring with 6 and 3 points, respectively. Ken Council and Earl McNair scored 16 and 14 points to lead a balanced Enterprise attack.

The New Brockton Gamecocks fell behind by 12 points midway through the final stanza and could never catch up as they lost to the Enterprise Wildcats 66-62, at the New Brockton gym.

Enterprise Wildcats Too Strong For Kinston

The Kinston Bulldogs took the fight to the heavily-favored Enterprise Wildcats last Thursday night in the home finale, and gave the 4A Cats a real battle before falling 66-58.

The win upped Enterprise's record to 17-6, while Kinston's slate dipped to 16-10 with the loss.

Enterprise made it look easy in the early going and opened a 7-0 lead to quiet the large Kinston crowd. The Bulldogs began to chip away at the Wildcats' lead midway through the stanza, and then broke loose to outscore Enterprise 9-2 late in the quarter to take a 15-13 lead. The two rivals swapped the lead back and forth in the second quarter, but Kinston missed on 6 free-throws late in the period and Enterprise rallied to tie the game at 33-33 at the half.

Enterprise went ahead early in the third quarter and went into a freeze, and the move worked, as the Cats took away Kinston's momentum and scored 6 straight points to go ahead 43-38 after three quarters of play. Baskets by Scott Sansom and Curtis Lane pulled Kinston within 43-42 early in the final stanza, but Enterprise scored six unanswered points to regain control and then hit on 9 of 14 free-throws down the stretch to tie the win.

Jeff Rhodes and Scott Sansom scored 16 and 15, while Willie Davis hit 18 for Enterprise.

The Lakers stretched their lead to 26-16 going into the final stanza and then ran away to post the victory.

Scoring for the Lakers were Kevin Goosby 18, Leroy Cole 8, Mike McCollough 7, Art Brunson 4, Bryan Payne 4, Craig Murdoch 3 and Buddy Manning 2. Scoring for the Hawks were Mick Phillips 14, Kimmie Daniels 4, Tommy Holt 4, Rob Hickman 2, Landy Magwood 2 and Tommy Crawley 2.

Tommy Holt, Scott Kelley, Mike McCollough, Leroy Cole, Rob Hickman and Craig Murdoch.

Nets 16
Jazz 10

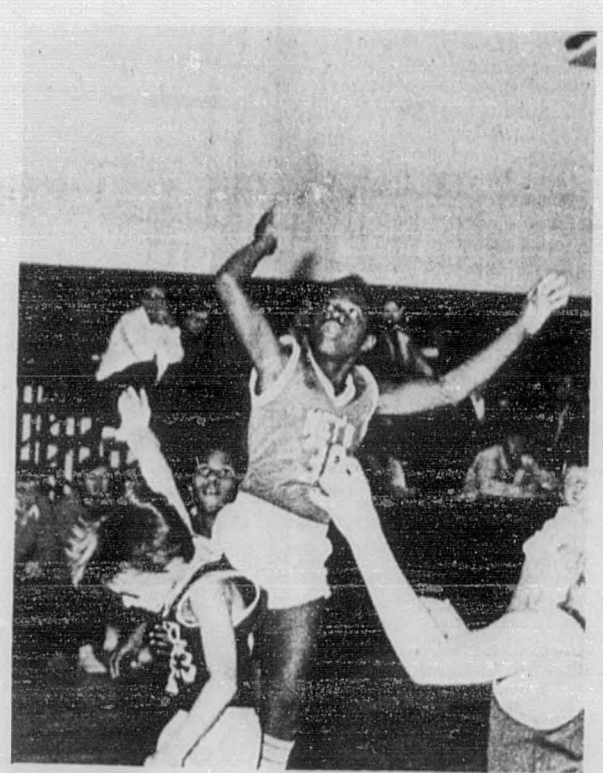

The Nets used a big third-quarter rally to pull away from the Jazz and held on to defeat the Jazz 16-10. The Jazz held a surprising 40 lead after one quarter of play, and owned a 6-4 halftime advantage, but the Nets went wild in the third quarter and outscored the Jazz 12-0 to take a 16-6 lead and put the win on ice! Scoring for the Nets were Robert Edwards 6, Chris Thigpen 4, Mark Vaughan 2, Michael Vidich 2 and Chris Lee 2. Scoring for the Jazz were Ronnie Crawley 2, Bill Brueckner 2, Dax Jeffers 2, Sullivan 2 and Kelley 2.

The "Midget League All Stars" were named following the final game, and the All Stars will compete in Andalusia on Saturday, February 28, against Abbeville. Named to the "All-Star" team were Troy Kelley, Michael Vidich, Robert Edwards, Jason Moore, Chris Thigpen, Chan Barbaree, Mark Vaughan, Dwayne Caldwell, Bill Brueckner, Matt Henderson, Ronnie Crawley and Mickey Dunnaway.

Kevin Goosby & Robert Edwards Win Scoring Crowns

The leading scorers (and points scored) in the 13-14 division were Kevin Goosby - 55; Mick Phillips - 51; Kimmie Daniels - 27; Mike McCollough - 21; Leroy Cole - 20; Art Brunson 18 and Craig Murdoch - 15.

The leading scorers (and points scored) in the 10-12 division were Robert Edwards - 11; Michael Vidich - 10 and Bill Brueckner - 10.

Robert Edwards (30) keeps his eyes on the ball as he fires in a basket to pace the Nets to a win over the Jazz. Edwards led the Nets to a 3-0 record and also won the 10-12 division scoring championship.

4-H News

ANGELA G. HUGHES
Asst. County Agent 4-H

Is your power bill too high? From conversations heard throughout the county, most people feel this way. Four-H's are trying to help their families alleviate this problem by taking part in energy conservation activities.

February is energy conservation month, and Miss Mary Sue Cain, Residential Energy Advisor with the Alabama Power Company, is presenting many of the 4-H programs throughout the county this month. She is showing slides, giving out home energy checklists, and having a question-answer time for those students who may have questions. The students are responding very favorably when they realize that money saved in power or gas bills is money to spend on something else.

Recently the 4-H electric appliance and applied science demonstrations were held at the Extension Office. The participants stressed ways of saving energy while using it. The winners of these contests will compete on the district level, which is held each year at Troy State University in June. The winners were: Ashli Hamilton, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Fred Hamilton of Goodwin; Judy Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Debbie Helms of Brundidge; Deborah Farris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Farris of Kinross; Robert Chambers Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers of Rt. 1, Samson; Andre Petty, son of Carlton Petty of Enterprise; Jamie Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, of Samson; Kim Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berry of Elba; and Chan Barbaree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barbaree, also from Elba.

The honor of lifetime director in the Alabama Cattlemen's Association was bestowed on J.R. Speed, right, at the state meeting. Mr. Speed received this recognition for the many years of service to the Alabama Cattlemen's Association. Presenting the award is Dolan Averett, president of the Coffee County Cattlemen's Association.

Veterans Want State Home

Roy C. McGinnis, Director of the Alabama Department of Veterans Affairs, reports that the veterans' organizations in the state are in the process of trying to establish a State veterans home in Alabama.

According to McGinnis, there are 45 state veterans' homes located in 33 states dedicated to the long-term care of disabled veterans who served honorably in the United States Armed Forces.

Generally, the veterans' organizations in Alabama are looking to establish a 150-bed intermediate nursing home care facility for Alabama war veterans. Funding for projects of this type are of critical importance, says McGinnis. But, he points out that under present law the Federal government will provide 65% of the funds to construct or renovate such a facility, and will pay daily per diem rates of $12.10 per veteran patient provided VA standards and regulations are met. In addition, the law allows the state to establish a maintenance charge and collect it from the pension, compensation, social security or other income of each veteran.

The Combined Veterans Committee (composed of members of American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars) is now concerned with soliciting information on buildings and sites in Alabama suitable for the home. It is estimated that a building of some 38,000 square feet will be needed, and 3 to 5 acres of land. Since the cost of acquiring land or buildings cannot be included in the Federal grant, the committee is seeking the land or buildings at no cost to the state. Anyone, or any community, interested in donating such for the Veterans Home may contact the officers of the Combined Veterans Committee for further information.

Henry Hammond, Chairman (American Legion), Department of Veterans Affairs, Suite 302, Florence, Alabama 35630 (766-5180). Mr. Joe Panell, Co-Vice Chairman (VFW), P.O. Box 1189, Gadsden, AL 35902 (237-7965). Mr. Wiley M. Parrish, Jr., Co-Vice Chairman (DAV), 3737 Princeton Road, Montgomery, Alabama 36111 (288-6148).

McGinnis adds that if such a home is established it will be operated by the State Department of Veterans Affairs. For this reason, he and members of his department are working closely with the veterans' organizations. If a home is established, it will take about 4 years before it could be in operation.

Filligim And Vaughan Attend National Auction School

Ted Filligim, of Jack, Alabama, and Ronnie Vaughan of Elba attended the National Auction School in Nashville, Tennessee. The auction school in Nashville, the largest of its type in the Southeast, offers six terms per year, each lasting two weeks.

Filligim and Vaughan attended 80 hours of classroom instruction and drill time. They received basic instruction concerning how to book an auction, legal contracts, preparing for a sale, advertising a sale, and drill in auctioning real estate, farm machinery, tobacco, cattle and antiques.

Having satisfactorily completed the required instructional hours and the auctioneer's chant, Filligim and Vaughan were granted diplomas from school, and now hold the honorary title of "Colonel."

Filligim was elected president of his class of 41 members.

ALL AROUND COFFEE COUNTY Tom Casaday - County Farm Agent

FOOD PRICES
Food bills for individual families in Coffee County are rising. Increases in the prices of food, utilities and fuel are putting a strain on a lot of families.

However, we spend far less of our total income on food than others. About 17% of our earnings. In Russia an individual family spends 45% of his earnings. The same is true in Poland. Italians spend 35% of their income on food. In England they spend about 32%. South Koreans spend over 50% of their earnings on food, beverages and tobacco.

Speaking of food prices, it is in the best interests of the Cattlemen's Association for farmers to make a profit. If Coffee County farmers and other farmers throughout the country can make a profit, they will continue to produce. This will help assure an abundant supply of high-quality foods. If they can't make a profit, most will be forced to quit farming. You know what that would do to food prices!

For more details, call Dolan Averett in New Brockton, L.R. McInnis in Elba, J.R. Speed in Enterprise, or Dan Presley at the Extension Office.

EARLY PLANTINGS
Folks who like sweet corn can make the first plantings in about a week to 10 days. In fact, some farmers will make field plantings of early corn the last week in February. If your first planting of sweet corn in your garden gets killed, you can always re-plant with very little cost. Remember, too, that it won't be long before you can set tomato plants!

Incidentally, there are a lot of good sweet corn plants with very little cost. Remember, too, that it won't be long before you can set tomato plants!

In addition, Brenda Allen, our gardening specialist here in New Brockton, has prepared a home garden variety chart. We are enclosing a copy of this to each farm family.

GRASS TETANY
Every year about this time a few cattle producers in the county lose cows due to grass tetany. Tetany occurs when a cow is unable to absorb enough magnesium from feed to support a normal magnesium level in the blood stream. You will see it more often with cows within a month or two after calving. However, all types of cattle are susceptible to it when grazing winter pastures.

Magnesium supplement in the feed is the fastest and most certain method of preventing grass tetany. Actually, a cow needs from 1 to 2 ounces of magnesium daily. You really need to begin feeding the magnesium 2 to 3 weeks before tetany is likely to occur. I am mentioning this because a cow and calf combination is very valuable now. All cattle producers in the county need to be alert to the danger.

SEWING CENTERS
Just how serious are you about sewing? Serious enough to steal some storage ideas from workmen, artists and photographers?

Each sewing area is different, so tailor these ideas to custom fit your own sewing workspace. Slide thread and notions on a giant pegboard. Tack sewing notes and material care reminders on cork bulletin boards. A clear, plastic storage chest with mini-drawers, the kind sold in hardware stores to hold nails and screws, will keep buttons and snaps stashed neatly in place.

Scissors and seam rippers stay in plain sight on the plastic silverware holder trays found in housewares departments. And, deep drawer file cabinets swallow messy materials, piles and remnants.

If you'd like to improve your sewing arrangement or establish one, let me know. I have some ideas I'd like to share with you.

1980 Peanut Yield For C.C. 990

Pounds Per Acre
The official 1980 crop peanut yield in Coffee County was only 990 pounds per acre, according to Mrs. Wynelle G. Lassetter, County Executive Director of the Coffee County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

This is the lowest yield on record since mechanical equipment has been used in the cultivation of peanuts in the county.

To add to the bleakness of this picture, more than one-third of the peanuts marketed grade S-III, which means they were determined to contain aflatoxin mold.

You'll save time by using these "as is" and not having to remake. For example, you can make a boy's bathrobe from a man's flannel or corduroy shirt. Remove the shirt sleeves. Trim the shirt at the side seams. Then cut off the sleeves from the shoulder end leaving a cuff in the back.

Ease the sleeves back in. Make a sash from fabric trimmed from the underarm seam. Use the collar, cuffs, pockets and buttonholes that are already in place.

Several of you have asked me to repeat the recycling clothes program we had last week. If you are interested in attending, call our office. The program will be Thursday, (today) February 19, at 9:00 a.m. at our office in New Brockton.

RECYCLING
Imagine... inflation and recycling fighting over children's clothing!

Inflation is swallowing your dollars even quicker than your children are growing out of their clothes. But, recycling is making a comeback.

There are no set rules for recycling a garment. Each has its own possibilities. Study the original garment and decide what about it is usable. It could be the fabric, buttonholes, trim, hem or pockets.
